Jewels along the Lake

Wednesday, August 4, 2010

Come join us on a tour of Evanston, IL and The Jewels along the Lake. Our first stop is The Bahai House of Worship one of only seven in the world and the only one in North America and is the largest and oldest surviving Bahai Temple. Its auditorium with walls of lace-like ornamentation and its dome rising 135 feet above the main floor is a must –see for its unsurpassed beauty. The temple is also known for its exquisite gardens and fountains.

Lunch today is at the Prairie Moon located in downtown Evanston served buffet style: start of with a Farmers Garden Salad then make your selection from Garden Penne, Grilled herb-Chicken Breast or Cedar –Planked Salmon. Dessert is Prairie Moon Dessert Sampler, Texas Chocolate Sheet Cake, and Key Lime Squares with coconut crust, and fresh fruit. Coffee, Ice tea or soda included.

Next we are off to the Spice House –known around the world as the merchants of the highest quality, hand –selected and hand-prepared spices and herbs. Featuring hand-blended ethnic Chicago neighborhood seasonings. Tom and Patty Erd will share their expertise with our group.

When was the last time you visited a bread store that made everything from scratch? The Great Harvest Bread Company owner Dave Schaps and crew mill wheat fresh every day, we will have a chance for a demo with Dave and go behind the scenes, time will be allowed for tasting and shopping.

Our last stop is The Charles Gates Dawes House, located in the Evanston History Center a magnificent Chateausque Mansion overlooking Lake Michigan; it was the home of the former United States vice president under Calvin Coolidge and Nobel Peace Prize winner, Charles Gates Dawes.
